

My Friend

the moon was shining clear and round and bright it smelt like flowers, oh was that a night it tasted salty, we could hear the sea the waves were roaring, that's how live should be this was the moment love came by and hit I waited for this since I was a kid so when you kissed me all made perfect sense I was on fire, lowered my defense the sun was shining shimmering and hot we moved together, built up our own spot we both were happy just like I had dreamed our life was perfect, well that's how it seemed cause little later all has gone astray you got a new boy, go your separate way I'm left behind like I was just a flirt you can't imagine how much I got hurt the shock lasts within me all down to the bone my heart is still frozen as hard as a stone I'm lonely and crying and trembling from pain this feels like a nightmare and turns me insane

* * *

revenge is shining brighter every day you broke your promise, I will make you pay your talk was sweet but nothing than a lie for all this faking you deserve to die

I tear your pictures, throw your keys to trash I cut your bank card, spend up all your cash

I shred your clothes, fill your shoes with ants I dash your dishes, chop up all your plants

I'm so bloody angry, it turns me all rough forget your belongings, I burned your whole stuff don't try to appease me, I'm mad I can tell stay out of my sight or I will start to yell that moment you left me I wanted to scream the way that you dumped me wiped my self-esteem don't call me my first name, you're no more my friend and don't ever show up, this would be your end

* * *

there's nothing shining in my life no more I'm cold and dark and rotten to the core I only want you under my control so I can tease you like some voodoo doll

I twist your ankles, turn your neck around I burn your hair and drown you to the ground I cut your head off, chant an evil spell I curse your life and send you straight to hell forsaken and faithless as long as I live I lost all my hope and will never forgive so don't expect mercy and don't cross my path I'm ready to rumble and set to kick ass

that moment you left me I wanted to scream
the way that you dumped me wiped my self-esteem
don't call me my first name, you're no more my friend and don't ever show up, this would be your end

