

Who Cares

early morning in the train all around you seem insane guys in public try to impress other guys with crap they address telling the world their private affairs how can they think that anyone cares
early morning in the train what a pain, what a blame, how insane

* * *

minutes later in the street headlines chase you bittersweet long confessions pointing out scars of some stupid wannabe stars showing the world their intimate pain this feels but odd to those who got brain
minutes later in the street
what a cheat, what a lead, how discreet

* * *

strange how they all suppress any shame only to gain some nibble of fame weird what they do as long as it sucks only to earn a handful of bucks fatal feelings they will bare sensual secrets they will share awkward acting they will dare ask you gravely - do you care?

* * *

every time they're on the screen politicians make you scream talking nonsense that appears wise to persuade and cover their lies stating that no one else knows the way how can they speak with nothing to say
every time they're on the screen what a scene, what a spleen, how obscene

* * *

strange how they all deny any grace only to show the world their own face weird that they lead the world to a mess only to be referred in the press

fatal feelings they will bare
sensual secrets they will share
awkward acting they will dare
ask you gravely - do you care?